We did it over a century, but we do more.

History

- > 1912: Mitsui Coal Mines starts chemical operations in Kyushu, Japan.
- > 1961: Mitsui Chemicals Europe started as representative office in Düsseldorf. Research on advanced technologies in Europe was the main task.
- > 1970s: We began importing and selling products developed by our own technologies.
- > Today: More than half of our sales are European products and we cover Europe, the Middle East, Central Asia and Africa.

Efforts through our products - Towards zero hunger and improved quality of life

Chemical fertilizers have contributed to the increase of food production and have saved people from starvation. Plastic film solutions have drastically increased the shelf life of food, reducing food waste worldwide. A variety of plastic products, engineered for light-weight solutions, with low cost, and better design quality have improved our quality of life. In the meantime, new challenges such as pollution and environmental destruction have emerged, which we have also overcome thanks to our constant efforts.

The challenges we face - Contributing for environment

With the current challenges, such as the United Nations “Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)” and the “Paris Agreement” on climate change, we recognize that we have entered the phase of making a new contribution. Increase food production, reduce food loss, reduce carbon dioxide emissions and reuse it as resources, develop new materials for renewable energy, recycle waste plastics, reduce marine plastics, etc. – Without innovation from the Chemical industry, it would be impossible to achieve them. These are necessary for the survival of the Human Being.

For the development of both EU and Japan – EPA entered into force

We are happy and proud to see that the EU-Japan Economic Partnership Agreement came into force on 1st February 2019. The trade agreement is the biggest ever negotiated by the EU and will create an open trade zone covering more than 600 million people. As a company with expanding business in Europe, we are really pleased to contribute to the development of both regions.
